18TH SUNDAY OF THE YEAR

The Lord who feeds us

Jesus said to his disciples: "Give them something to eat yourselves." These words of Jesus in this Sunday's Gospel are a clear reminder that we, as his followers, have to develop a new mentality. Instead of always looking for what we can get we are called to be people who look for what we can give. All the gifts we have are given to us for others. This is especially true of the gift of love. The main question for couples is not "Are we alright?" but "How do we need to be with one another so that others will be alright?" The love of a married couple is full of power for all those who meet them. This is particularly true for their children. It is the quality of the love of the couple that creates the quality of the atmosphere of the home. This command of Christ is also given to us as a community. The gift of faith that we celebrate is given to us so that others may believe. This can call us to radical change as a faith community.
